

The Arts

Hood Museum of Art

The Hood Museum of Art is one of the oldest and largest college museums in the country. With major collections of American paintings, sculpture and drawings, ancient and Asian art, art from African, Oceanic, and New World cultures, European, modern, and contemporary art, the Hood is the only museum of its kind in the region. One of its greatest treasures is the dramatic "Epic of American Civilization," a mural by Mexican artist José Clemente Orozco, covering 3,200 square feet of wall space in Baker-Berry Library Reserve Corridor.

The Hood offers an extensive array of community programs, including Family Days designed for children ages 6 to 12, ArtVentures for children ages 8 and older, workshops and Summer Institutes that help local teachers integrate the visual arts into the curriculum, numerous programs for schools, as well as public tours, lectures, gallery talks, and receptions.

Lectures, Symposia

Throughout the year, Dartmouth faculty and invited guests offer lectures, symposia, and other thought-provoking programs that are open to the public. Institutes and centers within the College, as well as academic departments, the Dartmouth Medical School, the Tuck School of Business, and the Thayer School of Engineering, all offer a broad spectrum of events that span the disciplines. Whether it's a poetry reading, a lecture by a political figure, or a discussion with a panel of experts, there's always something intellectually stimulating going on. Check the online events calendar at:

Dartmouth Community Resources

www.dartmouth.edu

Dartmouth abounds with exciting opportunities to expand intellectual horizons, enjoy the arts, cheer for the Big Green athletic teams, and enjoy the natural beauty of the region. This brochure outlines a range of activities that we are pleased to share with you, our neighbors, and describes how you can stay informed about other events and offerings on and off campus. I hope that you will join us as often as possible to share the dynamic cultural, intellectual, and recreational resources Dartmouth has to offer and join us in exploring and celebrating the unique natural environment we are privileged to share.

— James Wright
President, Dartmouth College
