If conserving water, protecting rivers, and saving money sound appealing to you, then here is your chance to support a good cause without spending a penny. And the best part is that you will walk away with a free, 100% recycled rain barrel that you and your friends have designed and painted! So grab your most creative friends, dust off your art supplies, and send in your best 11 x 17” designs to the Vermont Institute of Natural Science (VINS)- postmarked by April 15th. The top five entries from Dartmouth College will be invited to the VINS Nature Center in Quechee, VT to celebrate Vermont Clean Water Day on May 15, 2010.

Interested in participating in the contest?
It’s easy! Send us the following:
• Your team’s 11 x 17” drawing/illustration of the rain barrel design
• One 150-word essay explaining the design
• An official application form (attached)

Dartmouth College entries must be postmarked by April 15, 2010
